Product data sheet

ESD grounding point

EN | 2026-11-12

Item number: DSWL24948

ESD grounding point for personnel grounding: connection with snap, grounding lead 3 m, for mounting under the table top. Coiled cords and mats are connected here. The connection to the grounding system must be made by a qualified electrician.

Description

ESD grounding point: grounding point for the ESD workstation.

The grounding point is the central connection point of the workstation: wrist strap, mat and other components are brought together here.

and a grounding lead of 3 m and can be mounted under the table top.

The connection to the building's grounding system must be made and tested by a qualified electrician.

Typical areas of use

• Central connection at the assembly or test station

• Retrofitting existing workstations

What to look for when choosing

• Connection type: snap size and number of connections.

• Lead length: up to the grounding system.

Technical data

Item number	DSWL24948
Pack size	1 pc

Notes on use

The grounding point is the central connection point of the workstation. The connection to the protective earth conductor must be made and tested by a qualified electrician.

Frequently asked questions

Matching products: ESD grounding accessories · ESD table mats and coverings · Grounding at the workstation

View datasheet (web page, English)

Variants

Standard	DSWL24948

Compiled from the product information. This data sheet does not replace a test certificate. The original documents are authoritative.